

Extra Credit Opportunity:

- Visit the exhibition Mika Rottenberg: EasyPieces at the New Museum (on view through Sept. 15, 2019). <https://www.newmuseum.org/exhibitions/view/mika-rottenberg-easypieces>. Bring your student ID for discounted admission—and save your ticket. Thursdays, 7-9pm, you may pay what you wish. Bring a notebook!
- View the video installations fully. Select one to focus on, OR select several pieces to read in relation to one another. It is essential that you view the video you focus on all the way through to understand the work.
- Read a bit about Rottenberg’s work. Essays and reviews will be posted on Bb.
- Write a 800-1,000 word (2-3 page, double spaced) blog post describing and responding to the work, with a focus on questions of labor.
- Post your assignment on the discussion site, and include the text “Rottenberg EC” in the subject. Either hand in or send a photo of your stub to Prof. Herzog

Extra Credit projects are graded on a scale of 0-5, and will award up to 5 points toward your lowest paper, project, or blog grade. You may submit up to 3 extra credit projects by the last class of the semester.
